HUNGARIANS LEAVE;
SHANTIES BURNED.*Party of Italians Awoke This Morning to Find Place in Flames.*ALONG B. & O. ABOVE HERE

The Party Arrived Yesterday From Chicago to Work on Western Maryland, But Some Did Not Tarry—Fire May Have Been of Incendiary Origin.

The mysterious disappearance of a party of 17 Hungarians, the destruction of a row of shanties along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad above Greene Junction, and the plight of 14 Italians as a consequence of the blaze form a mystery which as yet remains unsolved. The shanties were burned to the ground about 6 o'clock this morning. The Italians escaped with their lives and some of their belongings, but all of them lost more or less of their effects.

Yesterday afternoon the party, consisting of 17 Hungarians and 14 Italians, arrived here from Chicago to go to work on the Western Maryland railroad. They were quartered in the shacks along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and under the brow of the hill on which is located the lumber, lime and plate mill. Today only the charred timbers and badly warped sections of sheet iron remain.

According to the Italians, the Hungarians, who were quartered in the north end of the long row of shanties, did not seek rest last night. Instead sounds of wood splitting were heard throughout the night. About 5 o'clock the Italians were awakened from their slumbers by the odor of wood burning. The rooms which they occupied were filled with smoke. Those first awakened aroused their comrades and rushed outside. No trace of their fellow laborers from Chicago could be found. Some of the men lost most of their clothes, others were unable to save their luggage. One sturdy son of the soil was without a hat and had not a handkerchief and pulled it over his head. Another man was without shoes. Across the tracks the luggage that had been saved was piled.

One of the men ran to the ice house and telephoned the alarm of fire from the Baltimore & Ohio yards. The railroad men went to the scene but were unable to check the flames, which had gained headway and were being fanned by the stiff morning wind. The Connellsville firemen were summoned and Chief Mitchell turned in an alarm. The hose was taken to water street but the railroad officials found it would be useless for the city firemen to visit the scene of the blaze. No water was available and it would have saved nothing had it been.

Efforts to trace the missing party of 17 failed. The men did not leave town over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and it is supposed they migrated elsewhere to secure employment.

Meyersdale Chief
Here After Men

Chief of Police D. R. Cramer of Meyersdale came to Connellsville this morning in an effort to trace the men who broke into the store of Miller & Collins Wednesday night and stole three overcoats and two hats.

It is understood that a white man, known to have had the coats in his possession, was headed in this direction. Chief Cramer has had his hands full during the past week. Besides seeking the negro who broke out of the lockup after having been arrested for robbing the Sand Patch postoffice, Cramer had difficulty persuading a mob from attempting to lynch Paul Dorman, the negro who attempted to criminally assault little Ethel Morgan.

Robbers Loot Meyersdale Store

Special to The Courier.
MEYERSDALE, Nov. 11.—Robbers entered Miller & Collins' large department store Thursday night and stole a number of overcoats. Two men were arrested, but at a hearing before Judge W. H. Cook they were liberated for lack of evidence. Bloodhounds brought here from Fairmont, W. Va., failed to locate the robbers.

Meyersdale Negro Assaults Girl;
Had Narrow Escape From Lynching.

Special to The Courier.
MEYERSDALE, Pa., Nov. 11.—Thursday night by Corporal Dresser of the State Constabulary, and local Policemen Harro and Cramer, charged with raping little nine-year-old Edith Webb. After the crime became known and was reported to the police, bloodhounds that had been brought here from Fairmont, W. Va., last evening on No. 49 to track robbers who had broken into a store, were put on the trail and led the officers to places that Dorman had been during the evening. Dorman was arrested and while he strongly denied his guilt, he was identified by the little girl as her assailant. She led the officers to the lonely point back of the Buhl & Gatesman distillery, where the heinous crime was enacted, and told just how it occurred.

The child was returning from the store to the home of her uncle, John Morgan, where she stays. The colored man followed her up Largo street and over a foot bridge across Flauberty creek, and when at a point between the foot bridge and

The meeting last evening was largely attended and was one of interest. A social hour and refreshments followed the business meeting.

Mystery Shrouds
Case of Eckhoff

United Press Telegram.
CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 11.—Mystery shrouds the disappearance of Frank Eckhoff, 24, a coronator, when his wife received a special delivery letter from him dated "Pittsburgh, Pa." Late Friday Eckhoff's wife and mother appealed to the police for information concerning the missing man and were told they declared today that Eckhoff was on his way to Los Angeles. The police say Eckhoff was the boyhood companion of James and John McNamara, and was taken away by operatives of the Bureau detective agency. Mrs. Eckhoff said financial arrangements had been made by which she would receive $15 each week from police headquarters while her husband is away.

ALREADY PLANNING FOR THE NEW BOARD.

Seven School Directors Being Canvassed Regarding Organization.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN

Just how the new School Board will be organized is causing considerable speculation. Already plans are being laid by some of those interested to pick the candidates for the three important offices of the Connellsville school district, those of President, Secretary and Treasurer. For the first time in years all the present officers of the board will retire at the same time. There will be no holdovers and the officers must be selected from those who are not now holding office. A peculiar situation also exists in that only one member of the new board has served a full term, or longer. Charles H. Bales of the West Side was a member of the old New Haven School Board for several terms and came into the Connellsville board at the time of the consolidation. The remaining four directors who were re-elected, J. R. Davidson, C. W. Hays, A. W. Bishop and W. W. Smith, have served but a part of a term. Attorney F. E. Younk is and Lloyd Shaw are the new members who have had no experience on the board.

Bales has been mentioned for President. Besides being a School Director of several terms' experience, Mr. Bales has served as its Secretary and Treasurer at various times. It is understood that the name of Attorney F. E. Younk has been advanced as a candidate for the Presidency. Mr. Younk is now on the bench, but was for several years a teacher in the public schools here, attended frequent board meetings, and is now a practicing attorney.

A successor to Secretary Bert J. Thomas must be selected. The records of the board are in good shape and the new Secretary will be able to take the records from the day he assumes office. Former Secretaries have depended upon the way the members are aligned on organization night. It is understood the Youth National Bank will be the depository for the new School Board and the Treasurer will probably be a member favorable to that institution. Indications at this time are that the new School Board will not only organize, but will work in greater harmony than any School Board of recent memory.

Official Count in Somerset

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, Nov. 11.—The official vote in Somerset county has been tabulated. William H. Ruppel, Union candidate, defeated John A. Berkey, Republican nominee, by 1,220 votes. Berkey received 5,100 votes on the Republican ticket. For Ruppel the Democrats contributed the largest share, 3,732; the Prohibitionists gave 1,233; the Socialists 406 and the Keystoneers 559. For the other officers the Prohibitionists did not poll much over 500 votes.

The vote for County Commissioner was as follows: C. C. Heidle, Republican, 6,719; Jacob Koontz, Republican, 6,927; Millard Walker, Democrat, 2,844; William H. Powell, Prohibitionist, 517; W. A. Weaver, Key-stone, 563; U. S. G. Gallagher, Socialist, 421.

For Post-Office Director, George Kimmel, Republican, received 6,650; Jacob W. Peck, Republican, 6,662; Richard C. Emerick, Democrat, 2,120; Henry W. Shaffer, Prohibitionist, 610; Herman Stahl, Keystone, 738; John Weigle, Socialist, 406.

Virgil R. Saylor, elected District Attorney and candidate of all parties, received 9,869 votes.

Tenement House
Burns in Bullskin

A tenement house adjoining the residence of Joseph T. Crossland at the summer home in Bullskin township was burned to the ground about 4 o'clock this morning. The loss will be about $700. Mr. Crossland carried a small amount of insurance on the building.

The fire originated from some person who had gone into the house to sleep last night. There was no fire in it and no one had been living in it for some time. Mr. Crossland was awakened about 4 o'clock this morning by a light shining through his bedroom window. When he got out the five room house was a mass of flames. There was no chance to save it. For a time it was feared a stable close by would catch fire, but it was saved.

Seat Sale for Opening Game

The seat sale for the opening game of the basketball season on Monday night began this afternoon at 1 o'clock at Graham & Company's pharmacy. It was not difficult to secure good seats for the opening contest today as all the reserved chairs are desirable this year.

The interest shown in the two practice games indicates that the attendance this season will be generally large. Character of the opening attraction and as Jack Adams is popular here the Cherokees should prove a strong attraction.

King and Queen Sail for India

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The King and Queen sailed today from Portsmouth for India to attend the coronation durbar. The latest reports from Bombay tell of horrible plague conditions and say that 9,867 deaths from plague have occurred, according to last week's statistics. It is said that 4,700 of these occurred in the presidency of Bombay alone.

It is reported that the plague is increasing. England is spending millions on the durbar but doing nothing to check the ravages of the plague.

Jacky Ryan is Called by Death

John Ryan, aged about 60 years, died suddenly of heart disease Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock at his home on High street, Meyersdale. "Jacky," as he was most familiarly known by his large circle of friends, had for years been in the employ of the B. & O. railway at Meyersdale, serving in several capacities at different times. At the time of his death he had charge of the pump which supplied water to the tank in the Salisbury Junction yard. It also was his duty at times to call the railway crews to work, and it was thus that he became familiar and so well known to the railway men in that section.

About 18 years ago he was united in marriage to Mayne Coulman, who survives him. Deceased was a member of St. Philip and James Catholic church, and funeral services will be held over his remains on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock; his pastor, the Rev. J. J. Brady, officiating.

A successor to Secretary Bert J. Thomas must be selected. The records of the board are in good shape and the new Secretary will be able to take the records from the day he assumes office. Former Secretaries have depended upon the way the members are aligned on organization night. It is understood the Youth National Bank will be the depository for the new School Board and the Treasurer will probably be a member favorable to that institution. Old Soldiers
Postpone Banquet

At the regular meeting of the William F. Kutz Post No. 104, G. A. R., held last evening in the Post rooms in City Hall the committee appointed to arrange for a Thanksgiving banquet reported that no definite arrangements had been made and after consulting the other members of the Post present it was decided to postpone the celebration until after the first of the new year.

The committee is composed of J. R. Bales, J. Z. Pritchard and Henry Kurz. The meeting was the largest held for some time, 15 veterans being present. At the conclusion of the business meeting a social hour was held and a general good time was had. Another meeting will be held about the middle of next month to arrange the banquet.

Still Probing
Dulaney's Death

United Press Telegram.
WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—Investigation into the death of Chief of Police Dulaney was resumed today. Relatives of the dead man claim he was murdered, but the authorities stand by the suicide theory. The woman and girl remain silent. A military funeral will be given Dulaney on Monday.

The police are unable to disprove the story of Miss Lennox that Dulaney committed suicide but four physicians who examined the wound and the revolver agreed it would have been necessary to have held the weapon two or three feet distant in order to produce the wound and the course the bullet took through Dulaney's head.

Sheriff Shields Goes to the Pen

United Press Telegram.
GREENSBURG, Nov. 11.—Sheriff John E. Shields, elected Tuesday to be County Commissioner of Westmoreland, was today sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on charges of malfeasance in office. Shields was prosecuted on charges growing out of the big Westmoreland county coal strike and made a campaign of vindication before the voters of the county. He not only overwhelmed opposition at the primary and secured the nomination, but was also elected.

Roy Hyndman, Son of E. K. Hyndman, Pays a Brief Visit to Connellsville.

The old Pittsburgh & Connellsville railroad veterans were surprised and much pleased yesterday afternoon to meet Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hyndman of Frederick, Md. Mr. Hyndman is the only son of the late Edward K. Hyndman, who came to Connellsville in 1872 to take the position of General Superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Connellsville railroad. He made his headquarters here and resided among us for eight years, during which time he married Miss Ouellette A. Brown of Philadelphia.

The Pittsburgh & Connellsville railroad was originally built between Pittsburgh and Connellsville, and was later extended from Connellsville to Cumberland, being completed about 1871. It subsequently came under the control of the Baltimore & Ohio, and is now a part of its system. Mr. Hyndman was an active business man. He early foresaw the possibilities of the Connellsville coke region and bought 8,000 acres of coal in Dunbar township, organized a company which was financed by the Lelands of Carbon county, his old home. The company was known as the Connellsville Coke & Iron Company.

Continue Killing at Nanking Today

United Press Telegram.
SHANGHAI, Nov. 11.—The massacre of innocent Chinese families and Republicans at Nanking was continued today. The imperialists are pursuing the fleeing populace and chopping them to pieces. It is estimated that 80,000 have been killed. The rebels threaten dire retaliation for the outrages.

The massacre has given an impetus to the revolutionary cause. Robber bands and pirates are active in all parts of the empire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Rear Admiral Markock called today that the Manchus have attempted to burn the foreign settlement at Foochow. They are vindictive because the foreigners instituted the execution of the Manchus' feudalities.

Markock states that he has sufficient ships now. He has dispatched a gunboat up the river to Hankow. He declares fighting has broken out in Nanking but believes there are few Americans in the city.

Police in Fight With Strikers

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Carts placed across the street with jacked wheels today were called into play by the police to defend them from the mob of street cleaning strikers. Ten policemen, including two mounted men, guarded strike breaking drivers who were attacked at the corner of 14th street and Second avenue. Traffic in 14th street was blocked. Police inspectors who sent out squads are quoted as telling the officers to "knock down with clubs the men who attack you. Remember you are not to be used as targets."

TO FINISH GRADING
DURING THIS MONTH

Chief Engineer Pratt Pleased With Progress on New Railroad.

TROUBLE OVER AT SAND PATCH

Workmen Are Through the Quicksand and the Air Compressors Will Be Taken On Tomorrow—May Run Trains First of the Year.

Chief Engineer H. R. Pratt of the Western Maryland railroad left for Baltimore this morning after having spent a week along the connecting link that is being built between Cumberland and Connellsville. Before boarding No. 6 at the Baltimore & Ohio depot Mr. Pratt outlined to a reporter of The Courier just how the work is progressing along the line.

"I am more than pleased with the progress that is being made," he said. "This month should see practically all the grading completed from Cumberland to Connellsville. We are already laying rails this side of Confluence. By the first of the year the road should be ready for the operation of trains."

"Work on the Keystone tunnel is progressing rapidly. The men are through the quicksand and have the soft spots concreted. Tomorrow the air compressors will be taken off and unless something unforeseen develops the progress from now on will be rapid. The tunnel should be completed before January 1."

Mr. Pratt keeps in close touch with this section of the country and is a constant reader of The Courier. He thinks it is one of the best newspapers of its size published.

"I gain great enjoyment from reading The Courier," he said. "The statistics that are compiled concerning the coke trade are wonderful. There is no question but The Courier is an authority concerning the coke trade." Mr. Pratt was no less complimentary in his comments regarding the daily edition of The Courier, which reaches him regularly.

A Coincidence in Figures Today

Today, as a majority of the people will agree after reading this temporal and likewise ephemeral item, is the eleventh day of the eleventh month of the eleventh year of the twentieth century. Now this is purely the result of human divisions of time, arranged, some arbitrarily and others to correspond with planetary movements which were not the handwork of humans. Nothing clumsy nor mystic need be associated with this coincidence in mere numbers. It is 11-11-11 this year, it was 10-10-10 last year, and so backward to the start of the digits. It is not at all connected with the lotic superstition about Friday and the thirteenth of the month, nor is it the birthday of seven daughters or seventh daughters. Mathematically it will be easily seen that next, in December, 1912, the triple similarity will be 12-12-12. But then the celebration will stop for 89 years, for their is no thirteenth month.

It is not surprising that the tidal wave of elevens will exercise the slightest influence upon the game of craps. This same triplication has occurred in all the preceding centuries since the present form of calendar has been used.

Tax Collector is Ready to Settle

Tax Collector George B. Brown has requested that the Finance Committee of Town Council set a date for meeting with him at which time he will be ready to pay over to the borough the entire amount due from him on the duplicates of from 1905 to 1909, inclusive.

The Finance Committee has not yet indicated what date it will set for the meeting. The exonerations have all been passed on the Brown duplicates. Mr. Brown stated today that only a couple of large estates have yet failed to pay over the tax money due him but these parties have promised to settle promptly and when the Tax Collector meets the Finance Committee he expects to turn over every cent that is due the borough.

THE PSYCHIC CANDIDATE AND THE PSYCHIC MOMENT.

It is painful to note that the Rockwater Democracy of Greene county do not endorse the action of Jesse H. Wiese in attempting to contest the seat of Colonel Thomas S. Crage in Congress one year after the return vote filed showing that the latter had been elected by a trifling matter of 1000 majority. The Wayneburg Messenger, whose Democracy is a century old and has never been interrupted, says:

Jesse H. Wiese, on the first instant, filed with the Secretary of the House of Representatives a petition and notice of contest for the seat in Congress of T. S. Crage. As the law requires a contestant for a disputed seat to file his petition within 15 days after the election returns have been computed, the contest committee of the House may be a little slow in considering Wiese's appeal, but when it is remembered that the contestant appeals from the fact that he lost the seat, it is not surprising that it is so slow. It is probable that the contest will take him a full year to find out that he lost the seat. The contest was intended for Wiese.

Mr. Wiese charges in his petition that his opponent, Crage, was elected by fraud, intimidation, corruption and bribery, and that he was elected by the "Physical League" failed to operate on the political level of Greene county. Another fraud, however, was that that if he was so much elected in transferring the seat as there was in the contest, the contest committee would have secured his full term and a good Democrat will likely have been elected. Under the law, a contestant in case of a contested seat.

It remains to be seen what disposition the contest committee will make of Mr. Wiese's petition. But it is a safe guess that not all the Democrats who stood by their party when Mr. Wiese was the nominee, will feel devoted any great portion of their time in assisting in a contest in a year after the time they lost.

If it takes a whole year to find out that a man has been elected by fraud, how long would it take for a "Physical League" to pursue politics of impurity?

In his petition, the contestant declares that he has just found out that he has been beaten by fraudulent methods, but at best the petition can only be construed as alleging some offenses against the election law. There might have been some on such side, but the dimensions of Colonel Crage's majority forbids the possibility of these being frauds across enough to overcome it. Perhaps Jesse is just taking a fever in the spotlight. The Government pays the freight, and perhaps out of that $2,000 Jesse will have enough to buy bedtime for his clung wagon.

He admits in his petition that he is a little late, but he asks his Democratic friends to forget the law and let him in none per time. Without attempting to pass upon the legality of such a case, it is interesting to note that the Congressional committee will decide that Jesse did not come at the Psychological Moment.

Since he has discovered a leak, it is not very serious except for the man who made it.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

United Press Special.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—That the United States government is "held up" and made to pay exorbitant prices for coal and oil for the navy, the navy department says today.

By law, fuel supplies for the navy must be purchased under the bidding system. The lowest bidder gets the contract. Gen. Alekhine says that under the present system, bidders communicate the amount of their bids to one another, and trade agreements keeping up high prices are thereby maintained.

As an example of the excessive prices demanded and obtained under the bidding system, Gen. Alekhine cites the case of the transport Yarnside, operating between the Pacific coast and the Philippines. On one occasion it was necessary to coal the Yarnside under an emergency without asking bids. In the open market, $9,000 a year could be saved in coal purchases for this vessel alone. Another condition of the bidding system is that the bids for coal on the Atlantic coast and also in the purchases of anthracite coal for use in army posts.

Gen. Alekhine asks that Congress give him authority to use his discretion in purchasing fuel, so that the government may escape the present system of excessive prices. Such authority has already been granted to officers of the Navy Department.

"World's pleasure ground and health sanatorium" is a title that may well be bestowed upon Hot Springs, Arkansas, according to its report. That made by Harry H. Meyer, superintendent, to the Secretary of the Interior. "To illustrate how healthy these waters are known," he says, "a daily bath report, selected at random, shows patients here from seven foreign countries. The past year was the most prosperous ever known here. Every month of the year saw an increase in the number of visitors. For the year ending March 31, 1910, the total receipts of the bathhouses in 1910 were $177,014 and in 1911 they amounted to $172,008.

"What has been the worst detriment and cause to this resort for 10 years," says the report, "is what is known as doctor and hotel drugging. Formerly it was not at all unusual for 25 or 30 hotel runners to meet the visitor at Little Rock or Benton on every train, and frequently some dinner was served as well as a bottle of medicine. The hotel drugging was but a mere subterfuge in most instances, the real object being to place the visitor in the hands of some physician who would give him his fee to the druggist. I am happy to be able to report that since October 16, 1905 when United States inspectors were placed on all incoming trains to notify the public what to avoid and to give full information as to how to proceed to the drugging, the practice of the doctor drugging (for drugging patients is in fact reduced to the lowest city ever known."

The War Department is being besieged daily with letters from citizens in all parts of the country who request that they be given portions of the wrecked battleship Maine for memorial purposes.

Many of these letter-writers represent whole communities who seek to have a part, or some similar relic, of considerable size which can be erected in city squares or public parks. All of them are being turned down by the Department.

Under present instructions, it is the duty of the army officers in connection with the raising of the wreck of the Maine to transfer the fighting mast to the remains of the ship, and to turn over to the Navy Department such special parts of the wreck as are desired either for scientific or other departmental purposes. The remaining parts of the wreck are to be removed by the most economical methods and sunk in deep water outside of Havana harbor. No attempt is to be made to recover the wreck for any other disposal of the remains of the wreck.

Recent agitation over the new regulations placed upon midshipmen at the Naval Academy in the matter of guests at academy dances has brought forth from the officers of the Navy Department a remarkable statement.

It was disclosed that heretofore the door of the Naval Academy, which had opened wide on the evenings of dances, and all presenting themselves at the door were admitted to the academy. It was admitted without question. Several embarrassing situations have developed from time to time, it is said, involving midshipmen in serious trouble. Heretofore, it is stated, the academy officials have not been able to prevent a card of invitation, and the names of all previous to the academy card are issued to be held. The statement follows:

"The invitations to balls and hops at the Naval Academy have been either a source of misunderstanding or a cause for attempting to stir up class prejudices. Few fathers and mothers with sons at the Naval Academy but would desire and expect the authorities to keep their sons in charge to endeavor to keep them apart from that special form of temptation that awaits all places where large bodies of young men are collected together. When the Academy was much smaller and the members of guests consequently fewer there was little difficulty in keeping a careful scrutiny at the doors of the ball room, but the number of guests attending has made this practically impossible. It is too much to ask that only those invited should attend, and that each of admission should be used to authenticate the guests."

Statements have been made that each midshipman is limited in his invitations to three young ladies. This is an error. All invitations pass through the hands of a committee to see that none reach improper hands. Without such supervision it would be difficult to secure due decorum in the ball room. In there any parent or guardian who does not approve of this attempt to guard the young men is there any parent or guardian of a young man who is not protected by some similar precaution?"

The outlook is bright in Texas for a free-for-all race for the seat of Joseph W. Dail in the United States Senate. Five candidates are already announced and several more entries are expected. Two representatives in Congress, Morris Sheppard of the First district and Charles B. Randall of the Fourth district are among the prominent aspirants for the toga.

GUARD OFFICERS

GIVEN INSTRUCTION

In the Drill Regulations by Officer of the Regular Army

AT GREENSBURG COUNTRY CLUB

Colonel Richard Coulter of the Tenth Regiment Reviews Work of the Regiment—Dinner and Social Session Held in the Evening.

Officers of the Tenth Regiment met at the Greensburg Country Club, Friday afternoon, discussed the new drill regulations, listened to instruction talks on military science, and were afterwards entertained at dinner by Col. Richard Coulter. The guests from out-of-town arrived in Greensburg throughout the morning and gathered at the Country Club shortly after dinner. The business session commenced at 2 o'clock. Major Charles S. Farnsworth gave an excellent talk on the new drill regulations and general orders. The regulations were changed with the idea of simplifying them. It is believed (the new order will be an improvement, but the benefits or disadvantages must be demonstrated by actual practice.

After Major Farnsworth had concluded his address, Col. Richard Coulter read the report of Captain Partello on the National Guard camp held last summer. Captain Partello is the regular army officer who was with the guardsmen in camp, and his report pointed out their weak as well as their strong points. The report was discussed generally with a view of improving the entire regiment. All the officers manifested great interest in the work and discussions of the afternoon.

Major Farnsworth also conducted a school for the officers, instructing them in the new game. Proper maps are provided and the fine points of military science under all circumstances and conditions were brought out. The instruction lasted until dinner time.

The dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Stewart Watson of the Country Club, was caterer, and served the guests. The business for which the Greensburg Country Club is famed. Nothing was overlooked to satisfy the wants of the hungry officers, and the occasion was one of enjoyment throughout. Dress uniforms, without side arms, were worn by the officers. The house was crowded to capacity.

Col. Richard Coulter, Jr., of Greensburg; Lieutenant Colonel Thomas S. Crage, of Wayneburg; Major Henry W. Fee, of Indiana; Major Edward Matlin, of Wayneburg; Captain and Quartermaster Henry Wiley, of Greensburg; Captain John D. Hitchman, of Mt. Pleasant; Captain R. M. Cook, of Washington, Pa.; Inspector of Small Arms, First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant Edward Lindsay Yohs, of Mount Pleasant; First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant, Thomas B. Weaver, of Holliston; Capt. Major P. McCormick, surgeon of Connelleville, and First Lieutenant Robert S. McKee, of Connelleville.

The company officers were: Captain Edward W. Hartland and Second Lieutenant James Edgar Gee, of Company A, Monongahela City; Captain Thomas Joseph Thompson of Company B, Beaver Falls; Captain Samuel S. Crouse, of Company C, Somerset; Captain Alexander R. Kidd and First Lieutenant J. C. Herwick, of Company D, Connelleville; Captain Lloyd Kulp and Second Lieutenant Homer R. Rumbach, of Company E, Mt. Pleasant; Captain John A. Watson, of Company F, Connelleville; Captain Wm. C. Weaver and Second Lieutenant J. R. Dunlap, of Company G, Altoona; First Lieutenant John Alken and Second Lieutenant Ralph M. Allison, of Company H, Washington; Captain Wade T. Kilne and Second Lieutenant R. B. Hebert, of Company I, Greensburg; Captain Walter C. Montgomery, of Company K, Wayneburg; Captain George McCune and First Lieutenant Addison Forsyth, of Company L, Connelleville; Second Lieutenant John W. Woodward, of Company M, Altoona; Captain Frank H. Wise and First Lieutenant Frank G. Webber, of Company N, Altoona; and Second Lieutenant Edward R. Hunter of Company O, Altoona.

The Tenth regiment is regarded everywhere as one of the very best military organizations in the State. Col. Coulter and the other officers have worked hard to advance the welfare of the regiment. The meeting of Friday was called by Colonel Coulter with a view of bringing the officers into closer touch with each other and giving them all a clearer understanding of the new regulations. All the visitors appreciated the many courtesies extended by Col. Coulter and the meeting was generally regarded as a success in every way.

THE BUCKHANNON AND NORTHERN ROAD

Is Scheduled to Be Completed by First of Coming December.

NINETY PER CENT OF GRADING

Along the Line in West Virginia Has Been Completed—Bridge Work is Practically Ready for the Rail. Legal Obstacles in the Way.

The time limit in which the contractors were to complete the grading on the B. & N. railroad in West Virginia expires December 1st. About 90 per cent of the work has now been done and it is hardly probable that the remaining ten per cent can be completed by the first of the month. However, there will be no delay in laying the rails. The B. & N. officials planned to begin laying the first rails on the road today and the work will start not later than Monday morning.

The laying of rails, ties and ballasting the road is done by the Buckhannon & Northern company. A number of the men are already on the ground.

The contractors on the railroad have entered serious delay owing to the heavy rains in the past few months. The grading would have been finished and the equipment moved away had there not been so many slides due to the incessant rains. Considering the weather, remarkably good progress has been made on the work and thousands of yards of earth have been disposed of.

The erection of the bridges is progressing, and in one or two places the work has been finished. The ties have been distributed along a great part of the road, ready for the rails.

Some interest is being expressed in the controversy between the Buckhannon & Northern and the Monacaugh & Northern Valley railroad pany. The restraining order granted George W. Johnson by Judge Dayton's court will come up again for the hearing in the case November 17. November 11 is the date fixed by Judge Mason to hear the remainder of the arguments of counsel in the Monacaugh & Northern case.

BROKE ALL RECORDS.

Iron and Steel Business in United States in 1910.

The iron and steel industry in the United States broke all previous records in 1910, according to Ernest F. Burchard, of the United States Geological survey. The iron ore production was 56,839,734 long tons, the pig iron production, 27,393,657 tons, and the steel production, 26,001,139 tons. These figures show increases over the production in 1909 of iron ore, 5,734,297 tons, pig iron, 1,508,096 tons, steel, 2,139,838 tons.

Michigan and Indiana together ranked sixth with a production of a million and a quarter tons and no other State reached the half million mark.

During 1910 of the 451 iron ore mines in operation, 101 mines produced over 50,000 long tons each, the largest quantity produced by a single mine being 1,190,093 tons, and the Rust mine, of the Mesabi range, Minnesota. Nine mines in Minnesota, besides one group of mines in Michigan and one group in Alabama, produced more than 1,000,000 tons each, the second greatest production being 1,769,097 long tons by the Rust mine, of the Mesabi range, Minnesota. Alabama's twenty-five mines produced more than 500,000 tons each.

Imports of iron ore in 1910 were the greatest in the history of the industry, being 2,591,051 tons, valued at $7,822,255. Exports were 544,875 tons valued at $2,071,164. Figures showing the foreign production of iron ore are not yet available for 1910, but the following table for 1909 shows the supremacy of the United States in iron mining.

World's production of iron ores in 1909, by countries was as follows: United States, long tons, 51,150,437; Germany and Luxembourg, metric tons, 25,000,000; United Kingdom, long tons, 14,970,979; France, metric tons, 11,800,000; Cuba, long tons, 1,417,044. No other country produced so much as a million tons. It will be seen that the United States produced nearly one-half of the total of the world's output.

In steel production in 1910 Pennsylvania led all States, with 13,207,539 long tons and Ohio came second with 5,650,838 tons. The total production of the United States was 26,001,139 tons.

Miners Warned by Mules. A cloudburst at Sanson, O., flooded the mine of the Progress Coal Company recently and difficulty was experienced by five night workers who were in the mine at the time in escaping from the slope. They gave credit for their escape to mules hitched to water wagons for giving the alarm, as the mules evidently felt the ground tremble with the rush of the water in the valleys above the mine and started for the pit mouth. They suspected something was wrong and followed them quickly, just escaping in time.

Wants, for rent, for sale, etc., cost only one cent a word.

J. F. Balsley
has Arm Broken

J. F. Balsley of Connellsville, who has been working the Sackett Coke Company erecting a crusher at their works near Outcrop, had an arm broken there Thursday in a peculiar way. H. R. Sackett was there in his auto. He was getting in the car and was getting ready to leave when Balsley undertook to crank the machine and it kicked back, the crank striking and breaking his arm just above the wrist.

Sackett took Balsley in the machine and brought him to Dr. Messmore's office at Smithfield where he set the injured member, after which Sackett took Balsley to Fairchance where he put him on a car and sent him home.

ASH IN COAL
Reduces the Quality of Coal and its Value as Fuel.

It is not possible to determine the effect of small variations in the percentage of ash in coal on the results obtained. In this respect the character of ash is of more importance than the quantity. Clinkers and ash reduce the efficiency and capacity by making it necessary to hold the doors open longer in cleaning the fire; and in case the ash fuses and runs onto the grate bars the air is shut out, the grates may be burned, and the results affected by the imperfect air supply.

A large percentage of ash tends to make the distribution of air through the fuel bed uneven, requiring a much larger air supply than is necessary for other coals. Large quantities of ash also cause a loss of unburned coal, due to the poking and frequent cleaning of the fire. When the coal contains a high percentage of ash the labor of feeding the furnace with the Eighth Annual Reunion of the Lodge of Perfection.

UNIONTOWN, Nov. 11.—Uniontown Lodge of Perfection met yesterday in their eighth annual reunion, having met in reunion first in 1901 a class of 43 members was initiated, and visitors from every section of Pennsylvania were present. A remarkable fact of the reunion was that every Lodge of Perfection in the State was represented. The Uniontown organization has a total membership of 675 and of these there were 360 present. All of the degrees from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive were conferred in full ceremonial form.

Dr. Harry J. Bell, the thrice potent master, was in charge of the work, and all of the degrees were conferred by the Uniontown Lodge of Perfection in full ceremonial form. They have performed this duty with one exception ever since the constitution of the Lodge of Perfection in Uniontown.

Coronation Durbar of King and Queen Soon to Take Place in India.

Special to The Courier

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The coronation durbar is a cruel and costly reminder to Indians that they are a conquered people.

It is Great Britain's adroit method of "rubbing it in."

Queen Victoria was the first British sovereign to have a durbar (by proxy)—1877, just 20 years after the fall of Delhi when the last spark of Indian independence was extinguished.

King Edward announced his accession in more impressive fashion in 1903, when he and Alexandra, were represented by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught.

And now George and Mary, "king-emperor" and "queen-empress," are to show themselves to "their loyal subjects"—a vast majority of whom hate them, they represent most cordially—and the ceremonies leading up to, during, and following "the biggest show on earth" will be attended by a pomp and circumstance and a lavish expenditure of money absolutely without parallel in the world's history. It will be the first time that a British sovereign has set foot on Indian soil.

Every stage of the projected "royal progress" is interpreted by the native population as a calculated insult.

The royal party, arriving at Bombay early in December, will be heralded by booming cannon, and the whole city will turn out to see the alien who is their emperor. The king will enter Delhi through Shadi Darwaza—King's Gate—which was used in olden days only by native royalty.

Here will come the princes of India, heavy with gold and silver and stones without price, with their elephants, their bodyguards, their bands of native soldiers, from the utmost corners of the country, with smiles on their lips and gifts in their hands, to make obeisance and swear allegiance to the successor to their ancient rulers.

Then the king will go a-hunting. At this moment the Sultan of Nagal, whose house was ancient before the first Saxe-Coburg was born, is rounding up the beasts in his jungle, like any gamekeeper, in order that George V may have plenty of bullets for his bullets.

Then Calcutta—and the last and crowning humiliation. A pageant reproducing the outstanding events in Indian history, first the ancient philosophy and culture of these oriental people; then the coming of the British, ruthless and dominant; the long wars which broke the spirit of India, the last exulting effort to regain what had been lost which found expression in the Mutiny, a little more than 50 years ago—and, finally, the "Black Hole in Calcutta."

India seethes with sedition. The spirit of revolution has gained such a foothold in the country that it is doubtful if its advance can ever be checked. A merciless policy of repression has failed to put down this native resistance on the part of India's mysterious millions.

Last summer the crops failed. On the heels of drought has followed famine, and plague. India's 300,000,000, never far from the starvation line, have crossed it.

India's normal death rate is 40 per 1,000. Plague and famine claim a million lives each year, according to official figures. From the plague alone 8,354,000 died in the two years ending 1909. Thousands die in districts never visited by the official enumerators.

This year conditions in India are not normal; they are worse than normal. Whole towns and villages are stricken. There are not enough well to care for the sick and dying, not enough living to bury the dead. Under these circumstances it is not strange that a tremendous cry of protest has gone up from the Indian people against the mockery of holding the durbar, ostensibly a period of rejoicing, this year. The money might be better spent.

Parliament voted $600,000 to defray the king's expenses at this end of the journey. The Indian government has appropriated $5,625,000. Another $15,000,000 will be squandered by the native rulers in "official" expenses which must come from the pockets of the common people in increased taxes.

The reason: It is the English government's policy that 300,000,000 whipped and subjugated Asiatics must not be permitted to forget that Britannia not only rules the waves, but also has a stranglehold on India.

THOSE YANIGANS PLAYED HARD BALL.

But the Regulars Won Last Night 46 to 15 in Fast
Contest.

IT WAS RED HOT STRUGGLE

Fans Were Treated to the Genuine
Article of Basketball and Not Many League Games Will Be More Interesting—Captain Doherty Kidnaped.

The Yanigans played some basket ball last night against the Regulars. They claim if their doughy captain, one "Phugor" Doherty, had not been captured by the Regulars between halves, the outcome would have been different. "Phugor" put up the real article when it came to leading the scrubs and the things he said to Referee Herwick sounded like a kick against a paid referee.

The final score was 46 to 15 but it does not indicate how hard the contest was fought. The Yanigans went at it just as if they intended cleaning up. The only thing that kept the Regulars well in the lead was the foul shooting of Billy Kummer. Billy tossed 12 of his 17 tries in the first session but close guarding by the Yanigans kept the field goals of the Regulars down to three. In the first three minutes of play three points were scored, all on fouls. Up to the last three minutes only two field goals were made, and then Beggs made a fancy toss while several Yanigans were riding him, and gave the Regulars three doubles in the session. Zack was the only Yanigan to make a double. Zack and Park committed a majority of the fouls against the Regulars.

In the second half the Regulars cut loose. Big Bill Heron was shifted to the Yanigans and Doherty brought back to the first quarter. He celebrated his arrival by making three field goals. Heron could not score as a Regular but he got a basket on the scrubs. Steve White dropped a couple in during the second half.

The feature of the game was the playing of Cavanaugh. His work was a revelation to the fans, who have been nursing the hope that Big John Ahern might come to the Cokers' rescue. Cavanaugh put up an exhibition that shows him to be a game, aggressive, gingerly center, and a lad who works every minute he is in the cage. He got one basket in the first half and seven in the second, being the stellar scorer. Besides this, he had a fondness for getting hold of the ball and the better part of the second half the Yanigans were playing Cavanaugh. Beggs was also doing fancy work with the sphere. He sent it through the net five times, once in the first session and four times in the second. Kummer and Dark kept the Yanigan guards busy but did not do much in the scoring line. Egolf and Doherty in the first half, and Heron in the second, kept the regular forwards close guarded.

The game was hotly contested from the start. The boys went at the two 20 minute halves as though a pennant was at stake. They played hard and fast, and showed themselves in good condition. The passing was good and the Cokers are rapidly developing teamwork. Both of the fans in the team went up several large sized points last night. The lineup:

Regulars 45. Yanigans 15.
Doherty forward White
Kummer forward Zack
Cavanaugh center Park
Beggs guard Egolf
Heron guard Heron
Substitutions—Doherty for Heron,
Heron for Doherty.
Field goals—Cavanaugh 8, Beggs 3,
Doherty (Regulars) 3, Kummer 2, Dark 1,
White 2, Zack 2, Egolf 1, Heron (Yanigans) 1.
Foul goals—Kummer, 15 out of 27;
White, 6 out of 13.
Referee—Herwick.

Dulaney Tragedy May Be a Murder

WASHINGTON, Pa. Nov. 11.—

Mystery surrounding the killing yesterday morning of William J. Dulaney, Chief of Police of Washington, and Captain of Company H, Tenth Regiment, N. G. P., has deepened. In indications at first pointed to suicide, but now the officials in charge of the case are puzzled.

In the home of Mrs. Rose Lenox, McGeorge avenue yesterday morning the police found Dulaney lying on a couch dying from a bullet wound through his brain. In the room, on the verge of nervous collapse, was Miss Ada Lenox. Two of her fingers had been injured by the bullet which ended the chief's life. Miss Lenox told of how she and the chief had been chatting for hours when the officer suddenly drew the revolver from his pocket and killed himself. The girl said she was trying to wrest the revolver from the chief when he fired and thus was wounded herself. When the police chief was taken to the hospital, where he died a few hours later, Miss Lenox and her mother were taken to police headquarters and they are now in the county jail held by the coroner for the inquest next Tuesday.

Since being placed in jail Miss Lenox absolutely refuses to talk of the tragedy. She will not even affirm or deny the story she told earlier. The appearance of the wound, it is said, indicates that the gun was held some distance away when the shot was fired.
